COLLECTION

from the
MUSEUM OF MAGIC AND WITCHCRAFT
THE WITCHES MILL
CASTLETOWN
ISLE OF MAN

ABOUT THE COLLECTION...

This, the most famous collection of magickal and witchcraft treasures in the world, was accumulated by Dr. Gerald Brusseau Gardner (1884-1964). Known in the British press as "King Of The Witches", Dr. Gardner spent his lifetime traveling the world and studying folklore and anthropology, and was internationally known for his writings on witchcraft. Gardnerian doctrines still are a major influence on the practice of modern witchcraft, both in this country and throughout the world.

The collection was exhibited in Dr. Gardner's Museum of Magic and Witchcraft at the Witches Mill, a 16th century mill with a history of witchcraft activities dating back to the Arbory Witches of the early 19th century. The museum operated at this Castletown, Isle of Man location from 1950 until the collection was sold to the Ripley's Believe It Or Not organization in 1973 by Monique and Campbell Wilson, Dr. Gardner's heirs and the High Priest and High Priestess of his old coven. The selected items from the museum offered on the following pages are all original, and each is accompanied by 29 pages of documentation including an individual letter of authentication written by the Ripley's curator who actually brought the collection from Europe to this country. Each piece has historical magickal significance, and was considered important enough by Dr. Gardner to worthy of exhibition.

A&B Trading Co., Inc. is proud to be the exclusive worldwide sales agent for the items contained in this catalog.
